Wikibooks is a useful resource if you're curious about a subject, but you couldn't reference it in academic work. It's also worth noting that although Wikibooks' editors are sharp-eyed, some less scrupulous contributors may plagiarize copyright-protected work by other authors. Some recipes, for example, appear to be paraphrased from well-known chefs.

That Viewsat doesn't have blind-scan, I think that one and the Viewsat Max have been discussed several times lately. A lot of the earlier HD receivers came out with no blind-scan, only transponder scan (VS calls it Autoscan). Only scans transponders either already in the satellite's tp list, or ones entered manually.
